HUNT ON FOR PONZI ASSETS

Wife, Soon to Become Mother, Not Told of Arrest—Winners Giving Up Profits—Old Colony Officials in Jail.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Aug. 14.—With Charles Ponzi locked up in East Cambridge jail, today officials turned their attention to a hunt for concealed assets.

Federal Auditor Pride declared that large sums of money alleged to have been put in Mrs. Ponzi's name, will be recovered from banks and that probably other sums held in agents' names will be retrieved.

News of her husband's arrest is being kept from Mrs. Ponzi, who expects to become a mother soon. She believes her husband is out of the city on a business trip.

Also locked in jail is Charles M. Brightwell, formerly of Los Angeles, and three other officials of the Old Colony Foreign Exchange Company, a Ponzi rival. The remainder of this company's chain of branches throughout New England were being closed today. An investigation was under way to determine its liabilities.

United States District Attorney Gallagher's effort to have Auditor Pride examine the books of the Hanover Trust Company, which was dragged down with Ponzi, has been halted by State Bank Examiner Allen. As a result Gallagher states he will issue a summons for the bank commissioner to appear before the federal grand jury with the bank's papers and books.

Many persons who realized fifty per cent on the money invested in "Ponzi's get rich quick" scheme, have begun to turn back their profits to State Attorney General Allen. They are actuated by a desire to help the thousands who staked their all on Ponzi and now face financial ruin.

With Ponzi's liabilities now estimated at $5,000,000, the rush of note holders to the state house grows. Officials have found that some investors beat Ponzi by raising the amounts on notes. Ponzi says he knows that many notes were raised from $100 to $1,000.

A special session of the grand jury will probably be called to handle the Ponzi and Old Colony cases.

AT THE THEATRES.

"In Old Kentucky" Continues to Draw Big Crowds at Keeney's.

One of the many reasons why thousands of people are flocking to Keeney's to see the great American play "In Old Kentucky" starring Anita Stewart is its many thrills. For example, a tremendous scene in which a girl leaps over a wrecked bridge over a chasm, a misstep would mean instant death to horse and rider. The horse barely makes the distance, some of the broken boards of the bridge sliding from beneath its hind feet into the chasm before it drags itself to safety. A scene in which a girl rushes into a blazing barn and is all but smothered by smoke and flame, to lead a thoroughbred racer from the burning stables. Feudist battles in the Kentucky hills between moonshiners and revenue officers. These are only some of the big moments in the picture, which is gripping intensity throughout. There is a beautiful love story, the thread of which is interwoven with all the action.

Monday William Russell in a western melodrama "Twins of Suffering Creek" and a Mack Sennett Comedy are programmed.

The Auditorium tonight offers Frank Keenan in "The Master Man" a story of politics in which a strong man gives the bosses a severe trouncing and cleans up a gang of crooked politicians. Also the William Duncan serial "The Silent Avenger." Monday Eugene O'Brien in "The Broken Melody" and "Elmo the Fearless."

AUTOMOBILE CONTORTIONS.

Fine Exhibit on Ulster Park Hill Friday Evening.

An automobile with a New Jersey license plate, coming down the hill at Ulster Park near E. H. Wheeler's residence Friday evening, skidded, turned around and bumped into a tree tearing off a rear wheel. A wrecking car from Kingston arrived and had towed the crippled car to the foot of the hill when a big car filled with people came hustling along. Curiosity to see the wreck or fear of a collision caused the driver to slam on the brakes and the newly arrived car skidded, hit the already crippled car, jammed it into a fence and completed the wreck. The big car was uninjured and went on its way. Just then another car came along, the driver slammed on the brakes and it turned around three times but made no hits and failed to upset. Nobody was injured in either accident.

GRAND JURY IN M'GRAW CASE

Physician Says He Cannot Talk and Officials are Refused Admittance—Police Claim Evidence That McGraw Pushed Slavin Backward.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 14.—Efforts to get a statement from John J. McGraw, manager of the Gaints, regarding injuries received by John J. Slavin when he escorted McGraw home from the Lambs Club after a brawl Sunday morning, having failed, a grand jury will be asked to investigate. Witnesses will be summoned before the body next week. District Attorney Swann said today and there will be no let up until the facts are known.

When McGraw failed to appear at Swann's office and refused to admit a process server, a deputy medical examiner and an assistant district attorney were sent to the McGraw home They also were refused admittance.

McGraw, according to his physicians is unable to communicate with any one. The police declare a milk man and another man have been found who say they saw a struggle in front of McGraw's home and that Slavin was pushed backward by McGraw. These men will be also called before the grand jury.

U. S. HOLDS MASTER KEY

Befuddled European Ministers Turn For Counsel to Only Foot-Loose Nation in Position to Give Help.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 14.—By remaining out of the League of Nations, the United States now holds the balance between the forces of good and evil among the governments of the world. America's attitude gives the only hope for peace in war tossed Europe. In this hour its tangled up premiers and rulers turn to the only foot-loose nation among the great powers for disinterested advice and possible assistance on the side of right. Not bound by any entanglements and free to act without foreign guidance the United States government already is exerting a pronounced and beneficial influence on the chaotic situation. Its stand is directly opposite to that taken by its suggested controlling partner in the League of Nations—Great Britain. It will sanction no partition of Russian territory nor endorse the policy of holding the Russian people responsible for the acts of the Bolshevik government. Such was the action of England under the League of Nations, from which the senate kept the United States free. To the policy of Great Britain facilitated by the league is clearly due the determination of the Russians even under the banner of Lenine to fight for their native soil which that policy has taken from them in the name of universal peace. No recognition has been extended by America to the newly formed republics of Georgia, Esthonia, Letvia, Azerbaijan, and Armenia which were formed under the league by taking territory within the borders of Russia. This country, being free to act, need not recognize Lenine or the Soviet form of government and it can recognize that the Allies were unjust in their treatment of Russia. As a member of the League of Nations it would have no such independence of action, but be bound to uphold the despoiling of an old and ever friendly power.

On paper every member of the league flies to defend Poland's integrity in pursuance of Article X. England refuses; France won't do it. The Russians even under a hated banner spring to attack Poland to preserve their own integrity. Thus is demonstrated that which all the Republican senators opposing the league foretold —a nation will not fight unless their own national spirit is aroused—and the chief purpose of the league under Article X falls to the ground.

HARDING MAY ALTER PLAN TODAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Marion, Aug. 14—Upon conference here today Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for president, and former Senator John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, may hinge the extent of the Harding front porch campaign, it was said.

Weeks is one of the "big five" acting in an intimate advisory capacity in the senator's campaign. The others are Harry M. Daughtery, the senator's chief lieutenant; A. T. Hert, of Kentucky; Charles D. Hilles, of New York, and Jake L. Hamon, of Oklahoma.

Weeks will confer with the Republican nominee on how far "the big five" believe his front porch campaign should be pushed and how extensively he should tour the country before the November election.

It is known for instance, that Senator Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, believes Senator Harding should "show himself" in some of the more populous cities of the east and west. Penrose sent word to that effect to the Republican nominee through Daugherty, who saw him in Philadelphia recently.

That will probably depend on the talk Senator Harding has with the Republican headquarters at Chicago after Weeks's arrival.

The day is likely to bring important political developments.

No fighting was reported from the Siedelace sector where the Polish armistice and peace envoys are scheduled to cross the lines on their way to Minsk this evening.

Did Coffey Win?

The Freeman received a telegram from Asbury Park this morning saying that Bayard Stratley beat Vince Coffey decisively in their bout there Friday night; that Vince was knocked down three times, the bell coming to his rescue each time. Other advices reaching here say that Coffey won by a shade. All agree that he was nearly knocked out in one round. This contradictory news is in line with that received here of other fights in which Vince has taken part and probably comes from rival managers.

NO WORLD WAR AGAINST RUSSIA

Ambassador Francis, Expert on Russian Affairs Says Less Than 10 Per Cent of People are Bolshevists and That Majority Will Soon Overturn Lenine and Straighten Out Country's Affairs.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 14.—There will be no world war against soviet Russia.

France, England, Italy and the United States will not take up arms against the Russians unless forced to do so in self defense, and they will not be forced. Instead, the Russian people themselves will solve their own problems probably within the next six months by the overthrow of the bolshevists.

Sees Administration Heads.

This prediction was made by Ambassador to Russia David R. Francis in an interview given the International News Service today following a long conference with secretary to the president Tumulty at the white hiuse, and Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby. Ambassador Francis left Russia in March, 1918 but technically is still accredited. Though he serves without pay he is subject to orders from the state department and is regarded as an expert on Russian affairs.

"Not more than ten per cent of the people of Russia are bolshevists" the ambassador stated. "That being the case the bolshevist rule over Russia cannot last long. The American note in the Polish situation will help a lot. It will find its way into Russia, you may rest assured, through General Baron Wrangel in control of the southern part of the country around the Crimea, through Russians in other parts of Europe and in other ways. I do not foresee a general war between the allies and the bolshevists."

Warsaw's Fall to Stop War.

Diplomatists here are apparently of the same opinion as Ambassador Francis. The weakness and demoralization of the adversary, rather than the strength and organization of the reds is given here as the explanation of the success of the Russian drive on Warsaw. And though officials here believe the Bolshevists may make a final desperate effort to occupy and hold Warsaw as a trading proposition at the Minsk conference, scheduled to begin at once, they do not look for a continuation of hostilities much beyond that unless Germany and Hungary, for purposes of their own, openly or secretly lend aid to the reds.

A number of reasons are cited here why nothing short of a direct menace to the countries concerned could bring on another general European war.

1. France's population is opposed to war against Russia The anti-war faction is strong enough to be overwhelming save in the event France herself is directly threatened.

England Fears Labor.

2. England's hands are tied by labor and other anti-militarists, and there is the opposition of a vast majority of ex-soldiers who saw all they wanted of war in the four and a half years' bout with Germany.

3. Italy is in far less a mood than England or France to fight Russia with whose people she has many sympathizers. She has neither men, money nor the will.

4. The Bulgarians are Slavs in sentiment, as are the Jugo Slavs and the Czechs They would not fight Russia.

5. Roumania, run over and trampled down during the world war, is not only undisposed to go to war again, but is not in a position to do so. She lacks both the spirit and the means.

6. Germany might make successful war against the Bolsheviks, but before she fired a shot she would have to strike a trade with the allies and her terms would be a complete revision of the treaty of Versailles.

Hungary Might Fight.

7. Hungary is antagonistic towards the Slavs and might fight. But like Germany she would demand revision of the treaty. The allies regard this as impossible.

8. The United States, it has been semi-officially stated, does not contemplate sending troops against Russia, and public opinion, it is understood here, is hostile to the idea.

9. The Greeks might not be entirely opposed to a general war with Russia and in such an event, it is understood, would probably occupy Constantinople. Owing to her operations against Kemal Pasha, however, she could not be counted on for much else.

To these nine reasons, observers here add a tenth—that Russia herself is on her last legs and is incapable of waging an offensive war against an organized army.

"SUFFS" TO KNOW FATE THURSDAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Nashville Tenn., Aug. 14.—Suffrage leaders here today claimed to have sixty of the 99 members of the Tennessee House of Representatives pledged to vote for ratification of the federal amendment. The lower house is the sole remaining barrier between the suffragists and their long sought victory.

It is not probable that a vote can be obtained in the house before Tuesday. No attempt will be made by suffragists to bring the ratification resolution out of committee because the house committee is largely anti-suffrage.

Instead, the senate ratification measure passed yesterday will be introduced on the house floor and an attempt made to push it to a vote. Under the rules, however, it will have to go over until Thursday, unless immediate consent can be obtained for immediate consideration. This is not believed possible.

RUSSIA WILL NOT OUST POLES; WILL ARM WORKERS AGAINST MASTERS; FIRST NEWS OF RUSSIAN AIMS

Foreign Minister Tchitcherin Says Report That Russian Army is Out of Hand is Absurd—Claims Free Hand in Orient Until Agreement is Reached With Britain.

(Note—The following interview with George Tchitcherin, foreign minister in the soviet government at Moscow, is the most important utterance which has come from a Russian officer since the Russo-Polish situation grew into a vital world problem. It is most timely as M. Tchitcherin outlines in detail the peace terms which will be handed to Poland when the Russo-Polish conference opens in Minsk. The interview contains the first official denial out of Moscow that the Russian army generals have obtained control and are refusing to obey the orders of the civilian members of the soviet).

(By Frank E. Mason.)

(Copywright, 1920, by the International News Service).

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Aug. 14.—Russia does not intend to crush Poland, but she does plan to create a great army of Polish workmen "as a counterpoise to the Polish imperialistic landlords and as a bulwark of peace," it was declared today by George Tchitcherin, foreign minister in the Russian government at Moscow and noted as the diplomatic brains of the soviet.

The latest of twentieth century newspaper methods was employed to secure this statement, with the detailed peace terms which Russia is offering to Poland—an interview by wireless.

Not Bound In Orient.

M. Tchitcherin declared that the soviet will claim absolute freedom of action in the orient until a general peace treaty is concluded with Great Britain.

The soviet foreign office gave the first official denial of reports that the Red army is out of hand and that the generals on the Polish front are defying the orders of the civilian members of the soviet. He gave a detailed account of how the military campaign against Poland is being waged.

In reply to numerous questions sent from Berlin to Moscow by wireless, M. Tchitcherin gave the following long reply:

"Soviet Russia has not the least intention of annihilating Poland Russia desires only guarantees against new attacks by the Polish army.

"We demand the reduction of the Polish army to 50,000 men, but at the same time Poland's own workers will be organized and the members of the trade unions will be armed to insure tranquility. This body of militia, composed of armed Polish workmen, will act as a counterpoise to the imperialistic Polish landlords.

Pole Workers Soviet Guarantee.

"Thus the soviet government seeks the best guarantee in arming the Polish workers and trusting them to establish the bulwark of peace.

"This is quite a new idea in international affairs We have studied the question thoroughly and we believe that the Polish people are deserving of the greatest attention.

"Russia stands ready to withdraw her army from Poland and the Polish frontier where only 200,000 will be left.

"Instead of Russian occupation, the soviet government relies entirely upon the arming of Polish workers and allowing them to maintain peace. Poland will retain sufficient arms and war materials to supply this army of workmen.

"Russia will insist that Poland grant free land to the families of Polish citizens who were killed or wounded in the war or had any connection with the war.

"These are the principal points from which you will see the new era beginning."

One of the questions wirelessed to Moscow referred to reports that the soviet could not stop the advance of the Russian army on Warsaw even if it desired. M Tchitcherin thus answered this query:

Military Disobedience Absurd.

"Your supposition about the Russian generals superceding the soviet is truly absurd Neither General Brusiloff nor General Kuropatkin controls the Russian army. They merely sit upon a military advisory board.

"The commander in chief of the soviet army is General Kameneff. His chief of staff is General Letheteff. The commander on the western (Polish front) is General Tukatchemsi, a very good young communist officer.

"The supreme military control is in the hands of a revolutionary military committee at the front. The red army is completely in the service of the soviet government and is controlled by the soviet government."

As to Great Britain, M. Tchitcherin said:

"Until an agreement is reached with Great Britain the soviet government has absolutely a free hand in the orient. Limitation can only be decided upon by a treaty or some other such agreement. I can give assurance that such limitations will be rigidly observed."

THE TRUTH ABOUT GOV'T POSITIONS

Letter From Civil Service Head Makes Situation Clear—$1,440 to Beginners.

Because of conflicting reports in regard to opportunities for the permanent employment of office workers—stenographers, typists, etc.—in Washington D. C, Joseph J Morgan, of the Moran Business School, Burgevin Building wrote directly to the United States Civil Service Commission for dependable information.

In order that the people of Ulster county may know, from an authoritative source, conditions as they really are, the reply received by Mr Morgan from President Morrison of the commission dated July 30th, is given below

"Referring to your letter of July 22 you are informed that the greatest need at this time in the departmental service at Washington is for eligibles qualified in both stenography and typewriting There is always more or less call for those trained in typewriting alone and typist examinations are still held throughout the country every Tuesday but there is an actual shortage of eligibles who are qualified in both stenography and typewriting

"The appointments which are now being made to stenographer and typist positions are in no sense temporary Of course, all appointments are subject to termination when the services of the appointees are no longer needed, but for some years the demand for stenographers and typists in the Government offices at Washington has been such that employees who are trained in both stenography and typewriting are not likely to be dropped because of reduction of force

"The commission is encouraging business schools generally to train in stenography and typewriting with the government service in view. There is seldom a time when the supply of eligibles for stenographer and typist positions is equal to the demand"

The many graduates of the Moran School who have passed the civil service examination and received appointment, supply the best possible testimonial of the effectiveness of its courses in preparation for service in government departments. The requirements of these examinations were recently modified to a very considerable extent Arithmetic, for example, until recently one of the important requirements, is no longer included in the examination. In fact, under present conditions, any stenographer and typist, 18 years of age or over, of average speed and accuracy, can without difficulty, pass the examination and receive appointment promptly.

The usual entrance salary for stenographer and typist is $1,440 a year, which includes the increase of $20 a month allowed by congress to appointees whose services are satisfactory This salary inducement, together with the educational opportunities at Washington should be of special interest to young people who are ambitious to secure a college education. Working one's way through college by tending furnaces doing odd jobs on Saturday, etc, is not to be compared with a government position at Washington, university lecture periods being arranged especially to suit the working hours, which are from 9 a m to 4 30 p m.

The management of the Moran School will be glad to answer all requests for information in regard to these examinations.

FOUND OLD FRIEND ON BOARD

Hope Followed Despair When Returning Doughboy Discovered Copy of Famous Sea Story.

I came aboard the transport reviling my luck, says Robert Palfrey Utter in the Review. My locker and bed roll were in France and I had neglected to bid them good-by; I had nothing but musette and kit bag, in which I had been living for a month. The Singing old [illegible] was the shabbiest tub in the service, slow, devoid of comfort. Her engines took a day off every week. Her smoking room was given over to clacking typewriters which manufactured colored tissue paper orders for the decoration of the main companionway. The white-and-gold music room was no place for one who was constitutionally unable to derive solace from craps or poker. But when I discovered that the ship's library had survived the ravages of war, I began to see the hand of providence. As I reviewed the backs of the 30-odd most respectable volumes in tough brown calf, my locker and bed roll "fell from my back and began to tumble, and so continued to do" till I thought of them no more. I was free as air in spite of the livery I wore. I tossed a polished copy of "Mr. Midshipman Easy" into my berth, cast off my [illegible] and brass-mounted [illegible], climbed myself on the [illegible] iron that ran across the top of the state room, swung my legs over the edge of the berth and dropped after them. I opened the port hole to the dark and the summer night, disposed tobacco and other necessities in the wall pockets, started the fire in a well-crusted briar bowl, and forthwith I was in company with an old friend whom I had not seen for years—"By 9 o'clock that evening Mr. Jack Easy was safe on board his majesty's sloop Harpy."

WILL BE BOON TO INVALID

Independence, Comfort, and Exercise All Provided in New Chair Propelled by Electricity.

A new era of independence, comfort and exercise is promised to invalids in an electrically-propelled chair that is now being made by a firm of surgical engineers in London.

In appearance it is little more than a very comfortable, luxuriously-suspended bath chair or invalid's carriage. The propulsive motion is electricity. It is silent, travels a distance of over twenty miles on a single charge and has four speeds, ranging from a crawl up to five miles per hour.

The control is said to be so simple that any person, no matter with what disabilities, can sit in the carriage and start right away, and it is fitted with reverse on all speeds. It is only necessary to hold the steering lever with the left hand and gently push over the controller handle with the right hand. The use of the carriage renders an invalid independent of chair man or attendant, and the cost of upkeep is said to be trivial.

Wonders of Novelists.

Baroness Orczy, in "Petticoat Government," makes the crescent moon rise over the far eastern sky at 11 o'clock on a June evening; and Miss Stevens, in "The Veil," credits her full moon with rising and setting in less than three hours! But, toughest of all bulls, is that created by Miss Marie Corelli, when, in her "Treasure of Heaven," she tells of somebody "bringing home eight Highland bull-heifers from pasture."—London Chronicle.

Prison.

To dream of living in a prison contrarily promises consolation for trouble. To visit one in your dream is a sign of a legacy from some distant rich relation. To dream of departing from a prison is a sign of great coming happiness. To dream of entering one signifies safety in some accident.—Exchange.

Wasting Time on Trifles.

I have a friend, a most estimable man, who is so conscientious about doing little things to a complete finish that he never allows himself to neglect details of the most trifling nature. The result is that, although he is a tremendous worker, his energies are so exhausted on trifles that he has very little strength or time for important things that need his attention.—Orison Swett Marden in Chicago Daily News.

Best Timber for Airplanes.

The best timber for airplane purposes was found to be Sitka spruce, known in England as silver spruce. It is light and at the same time strong, highly flexible and soft in structure, so that it yields to the impact of a bullet without being shattered.

FARMERS WELCOME CAREFUL TOURISTS

Persons who have traveled the roads of New York state during this summer have remarked upon the litter which has been left by picnic parties along the roadsides and in adjoining fields and groves.

Farmers on whose property this litter has been left have in some cases become prejudiced against having picnickers use their fields particularly when bars have been left down or gates left open so that damage has been done by stock thus set at large. In a number of instances, fires have been started in woodlands or grain fields from camp fires left burning by certain picnic parties.

The natural result in certain localities has been to cause a reluctance on the part of owners of property to have their places used by automobilists.

In most cases, it is pointed out farmers are glad to have city visitors and will do everything they can to make such visitors welcome, but if the hospitality of the field and woodland is abused then the result is likely to give rise to friction.

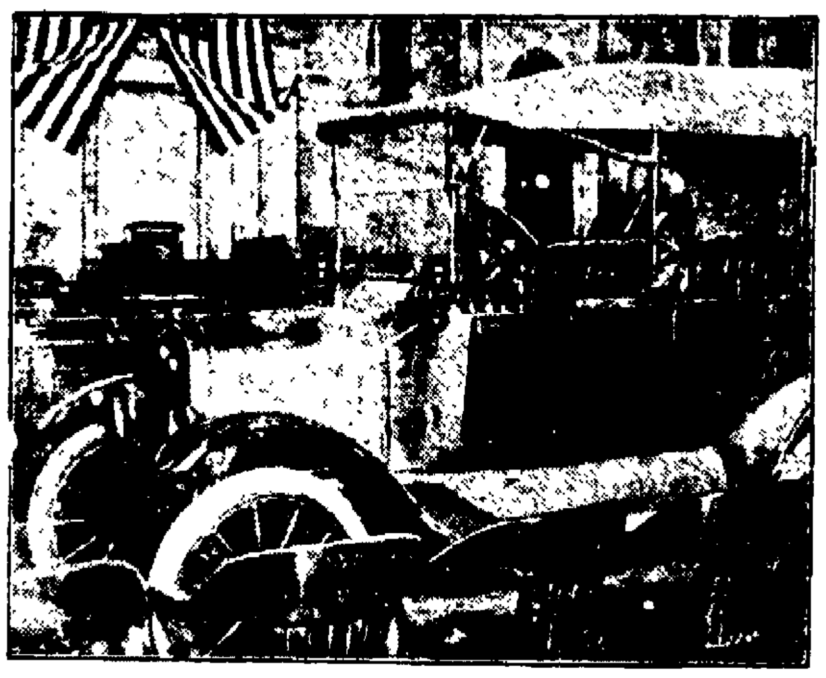
AUTOMOBILE IS HOISTED INTO COUNTY COURT AS EXHIBIT AT MURDER TRIAL



For the first time on record an automobile has been moved into a courtroom as evidence. This unusual event took place recently in the Bronx county supreme court, New York city, where Ernest Fritz was on trial charged with the murder of Mrs. Florence Coyne. Mrs. Coyne was riding in the automobile at the time of her death. The machine had to be hoisted into a window in the courthouse.

DISABLED CAR TOWED WITHOUT DIFFICULTY

Improper Fastening of Lines Cause of Much Harm.

Best Plan to Attach Rope to Both Ends of Frame, as Shown in Illustration—Start Ahead Slowly, Avoiding Jerks.

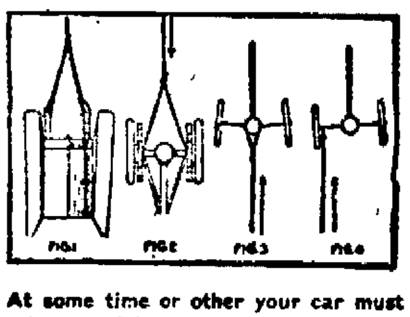
The automobile that makes a business of towing disabled cars, as a rule, does not last long. Generally the main cause of its rapid destruction lies in improper fastening of the tow-lines.

The car being towed does not receive injury if the tow-rope is fastened to any part of sufficient strength to withstand the pulling strain. Still, it is better to attach the tow-rope to both ends of the frame, as in Fig. 1.

The nearer the fastening is made to the traction points of the towing car, the less strain the towing-car will have to undergo.

When the rope is attached to the differential housing, as in No. 3, the tendency is to spring the rear axle. When a connection is made, as in No. 4, the entire drag comes at one end of the rear axle, tending to pull the axle out of line. Of the two methods No. 4 is preferable if the tie shown in No. 2 cannot be made. Do not fasten the tow-rope to the frame of the car that is to do the towing.

When starting the car, move ahead slowly to take up the slack in the tow-rope without jerking. When under way the driver of the towed car should keep the rope taut by using the brake if necessary.—Ronald L. Prindle, in Popular Science Monthly.



At some time or other your car must be towed home. Here's the way to do it without injuring the car.

HANDLING AUTO IS QUITE EASY

Little Knowledge of Component Parts Will Bring It Back All Right.

IGNORANCE CAUSES TROUBLE

Gasoline Mixed With Air, Compression and Ignition Are Three Essentials in Starting—Lubrication Is Important.

Since the test of success long has been not that a fellow could start something, but that he could finish it, it well may be said that one is not an accomplished motorcar driver until he can get back on his own power, regardless of what conditions he is up against. Anyone can be towed back—if he has the price. There is little fear of this for the driver of an up-to-date car once he has learned the simple things of operation. It is ignorance which leads to trouble—outside of the movies.

It takes three things to start a car, gasoline mixed with air, compression and ignition, and these must be continuous if the car is to keep running. In addition there must be a system of lubrication, a system of cooling and a free exhaust. Now, this looks like a formidable list of things to master; really it can be done even by a child. To begin with the first on the list, for instance, it may be taken for granted if the engine is started and runs, that the carburetor is adjusted properly and will stay so until human fingers alter it; therefore the only trouble in the gasoline supply would be a failure to keep a supply in the tank or the stoppage of the pipe line by dirt, the remedy being obvious.

To Determine Compression.

Compression may be determined by cranking over the engine by hand and noticing the resistance of each cylinder in turn. Lack of compression may come from leaky valves which need grinding in, lack of lubrication in the cylinder, since oil forms a seal between piston and cylinder walls; that the piston rings were gummed and not functioning, or that there was a leak at plugs, petcocks, or if the cylinder head be removable in its gasket. But an engine will run with pretty poor compression.

Ignition is much more likely to be at fault than the other things mentioned. The modern car with starting system is quite a complex thing so far as its electric plant is concerned, for there is the starting motor and the generator, the storage battery, timing device, possibly a magneto, and an intricate system of wiring, with cutout and regulator, ammeter, lights, horn and maybe other devices to give trouble. Barring broken wires, loose terminals and dirty contact points the troubles should be few. The car instruction book gives a chart of wiring.

Lubrication Is Important.

Lubrication is perhaps the most important feature of operation of the motor. Without it the motor would be ruined in a few minutes. Lubrication means the placing of a film of oil or grease between two moving parts to reduce friction, and in the cylinder it has the added office of sealing for compression noted above.

The lubrication system may be force feed, splash or circulating splash. The latter is the one most used. The oil is carried in the bottom of the crank case, called the sump, at a level determined by the manufacturer. It is pumped up to a dial on the dashboard where you may observe its flow, and runs from there by gravity to the oil troughs in the crank case, and possibly to some other mechanism. Narrow projections on the connecting rods dip into the oil in the troughs and splash it over the interior. Rapid motion of the parts produces a sort of oil fog in the crank case, which deposits a film of oil upon parts where the splash does not reach, lubricating all moving parts sufficiently.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 14, 1920

SAINT WOODROW.

An interesting sidelight on President Wilson's tour of Europe is contained in the testimony given before the district attorney of the city of New York by a professional publicity man who testifies that he was employed as a press agent in connection with President Wilson's European trips. Says this publicity man:

"I went through Italy doing press agent work for President Wilson I made them bow down and pray to him before they did to the saints."

It will be readily agreed by those who remember the acclaim with which President Wilson was received in Italy and in other parts of Europe, that the press agent undoubtedly earned his money. If the people of Italy did not fall down and worship President Wilson they were undoubtedly hypnotised into doing something closely akin to idol worship. This publicity man was formerly employed by George Creel and in defending some of his sensational efforts to attract attention to some particular moving picture films, he asserts that he went abroad for the Creel Bureau doing exactly the same type of work. In other words, under the management of Creel who was especially selected by President Wilson to conduct the "Bureau of Information" of the United States by authority of the government and with government funds, this publicity man was employed to adopt the same sensational methods in advertising the Wilson Administration that he used in advertising a moving picture show.

Thus the people have revealed to them some of the methods by which the Wilson Administration has attracted attention to and created a favorable impression of its conduct of the business of the government. Much of the publicity of the Wilson Administration has been pure fake.

THE "JAP" PROBLEM.

Discussing the Japanese problems in California the editor of Reedy's Mirror says: "The racial issue along the coast—for it exists from Canada to Mexico—is not without bearing upon national affairs in other ways. For example, it is back of much agitation for our intervention in Mexico. It is an article of faith in California that Mexico is almost completely under Japanese domination. It seems to me that it is most likely that in the event of the election of Mr. Harding we shall go into Mexico with a whoop and come out with all her movables. The southwest and the extreme northwest are in favor of this policy."

It has been supposed that only Americans with mining or other investments in Mexico have wanted intervention and annexation, but, according to the observer quoted above, Pacific coast people want Mexico "cleaned up" in order to stop the smuggling of Jap immigrants across the line into California. On the Pacific slope the Japanese problem appears to be as acute in some respects as the negro problem has ever been in the south. Wherever two distinct races occupy a common territory a "problem" is inevitable. The experienced south feels sympathy for the Pacific States, while the relatively inexperienced north is inclined to scoff at the anti-Jap "obsession" of the Californians. In spite of the bars put up against them the Japs are growing in numbers through immigration smuggling as well as through natural increase and are getting control of much land. In 1919 the acres under Japanese control in California numbered 427,000 and the crops upon these acres were valued at $67,000,000.

A NOBLE PURPOSE.

The Constitutional League of America has been formed in New York for the announced purpose of putting a copy of the Constitution of the United States into each of the 20,000,000 homes in the country. The directors of the league include Franklin K. Lane and Charles E. Hughes. They declare their aim to be "to disseminate a wider knowledge of the constitution, the principles under which it was founded and ideals which inspired it." It is also intended to encourage the use of the constitution as a model for self government in industrial plants, and in the "school republics" which have been formed in various private and public schools.

The movement is the latest evidence of the decided reaction that is in progress against Wilsonism throughout the country. The undisguised contempt for the constitution and its authors, that has been the principal characteristic of the plague of internationalism that has swept over the country, not only has failed to win any substantial support but has revitalized the spirit of Americanism and won renewed allegiance to its principles as set forth in that instrument.

FARMING WAS A "LARK" TO THEM

Many Farmerettes Quit Marlborough To Return to the City—Render Excellent Service to Ulster Farmers.

Having completed their tasks picking berries pulling weeds and various other agricultural pursuits a large percentage of the 350 farmerettes engaged on more than fifty farms in this county, near Marlborough, have returned to their homes in New York city.

Deserting the school-room, the office and the shop, discarding fine frocks for overalls and straw hats, forsaking Broadway for the mountains and camp, the young women engaged in almost every walk of life, have been diligently filling the capacity of "farmer" in Ulster county during the summer months. They have done the work exceedingly well, said W. J Haviland, a prominent farmer of Marlborough. "The girls have proved industrious, efficient and well behaved. The services of the women were secured through Mrs E. B Coleman of the New York State Industrial Commission with headquarters at 112 West 46th street, New York city."

More than fifty farmers of Ulster county applied to the Industrial Commission for help to combat the serious labor shortage. In response to the call of the farmers in this section women were recruited from their labors in every industrial endeavor to fill the farm-labor shortage and give practical evidence of what they could do.

Each farmer employed between seven to twenty girls and one farmer employed as high as forty farmerettes. The usual number averaged twenty to one farm. Mr. Haviland stated he had employed twenty girls all summer and several of his neighbors have the same number at work at the present time.

Tents were erected with full household equipment and a camp supervisor and cook in charge. Two, three or five girls occupied one tent, according to its size. Many of the girls lived at the farmhouses, but the majority preferred the novel experience of camping out-of-doors and would crowd together in the cots rather than remain indoors.

Many were composed of New York city school tecahers who taught in the same buildings in New York and they desired to have no other women of any other business or profession members of their colony or camp. "Lark" was the term used by the school teachers in describing their six weeks' vacation period on the farms. "But," Mr. Haviland says "they accomplished the work just the same."

The ages of the women ranged from seventeen to thirty-six years and their wages anywhere from $1 to $3 per day, with board included.

For recreation they held dances at the different camps and gave amateur performances inviting all the neighborhood to attend when they would dance and sing and impersonate several well-known and conspicuous characters.

The majority, however, have boarded the West Shore and New York Central trains for New York with the promise to return next year. "Such is the life in a small town," was one girl's last remark. "In comparison to the existence in a big city."

Potato Digging Pointers.

Light will not hurt potatoes' eyes, but it will seriously impair their table quality. For that reason they should be stored in a dark place, says the state college. Dig your potatoes, if possible, on a clear day when the soil is not wet enough to cling to them. Leave them in the field only long enough to become dry, then store in a place which is cool and rather moist, and as dark as possible. Under ordinary home storage conditions, because of the danger of decay, it is not wise to have the potatoes more than 2½ or 3 feet deep, either in a pile or in a box.

WOMEN AND THE PRIMARIES

Women are said by the Republican Women's State Executive Committee to favor the primary system. Under the caption "Do You Believe in the Primaries" the committee says:

If so, take part in the primary election on September 14th.

If you do not take part will you have any right to criticize the decisions made by the rest of the voters who do their duty?

Women are said to favor the primary system. This can easily be proved by watching the voting strength which is shown on Primary Day.

This is the chance of the individual voter to express preferences.

You have a perfect right to work for, any candidate and urge other voters to work for and vote for that candidate at the primaries.

After the primaries, when the vote has been recorded, it is only fair to abide by the primary choice.

It is not true that the individual voter has no chance.

It is not true that the individual voter is "bossed."

The only thing that bosses the voter is inertia.

If your country is important enough to work for in time of war why isn't she just as important in peace.

The country needs the active interest of every man and woman.

What will you do about September 14th—Fall Primary Day?

Hours for voting outside New York city, 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

An official primary election (according to Section 45 of the Election Law as amended in 1914) is one at which enrolled members of a political party nominate party candidates for public offices.

To be entitled to vote at an official primary election, you must be an enrolled member of the political party holding it.

The state ticket designated at the unofficial convention held at Saratoga is as follows:

For Governor—Nathan L. Miller of Onondaga.
For Lieutenant-Governor—Jeremiah Wood of Nassau.
For Secretary of State—John J. Lyons of New York.
For Comptroller—James A. Wendell of Montgomery.
For Attorney- General—Charles D. Newton of Livingston.
For Treasurer—N. Monroe Marshall of Franklin.
For State Engineer & Surveyor—Frank M Williams of Orange.
For Court of Appeals—Emery A. Chase of Greene and F. E. Crane of Kings.
For United States Senator—James W. Wadsworth of Livingston.

FRELINGHUYSEN OK'S WADSWORTH

Senior New York Senator's Colleague Cites His Work on Military Affairs and Agricultural Committees and Says State and Nation Would Sustain Loss Were He Not Returned.

United States Senate,
Committe on Military Affairs,
Washington, D. C.
August 12, 1920.

To the Editor of The Freeman,
Kingston, N Y.

Dear Sir:

As one who served in the senate with Senator James W. Wadsworth, I express my hope that he will be re-elected. Senator Wadsworth has made a valuable servant. Coming to the United States senate with the superb experience gained in the legislature of New York, he immediately became an important factor in national affairs.

During the six years of his term, he has ripened and attained prominence in all matters of legislation. During the war he was one of the most hard working members of the military affairs committee preparing the measures governing and sustaining the conduct of the war. As chairman of the military committee in the present congress, he conducted the investigation subsequent to the war and personally drafted the law reorganizing the army. This constructive piece piece of legislation, admitted to be one of the greatest accomplishments of the 66th congress, was framed after a complete study of problems here and abroad of the lessons learned in the war. In this measure he not only provided for the reduction of the standing army, demanded by the general staff and the secretary of war, from 576,000 to 300,000, but he proved the practicability of the more economical force. In two years his committee cut down the appropriations sought by the administration for the war department, saving taxpayers one billion dollars.

Senator Wadsworth worked zealously as a member of the agricultural committee and aided the farmers, of which he himself is one, and has given active attention to the work of all the other committees of which he is a member.

A man of great ability, logical and eloquent, he has been commended many times on the floor for his splendid work, not only by his own partisans but by Democratic senators. He is a man of strong convictions, never influenced by hysteria or political expediency and a faithful representative of the great Empire state. He has made good. He deserves re-election.

Should he not be returned, it will be a great loss not only to the state of New York but to the country as well and would mean another six years of training for a representative from New York. As Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, has well written me, "Wadsworth is one of the men who must not be lost to the public service."

Yours very truly,
J. S. FRELINGHUYSEN.

U. S. NOT WANTED.

In League Except for Selfish Reasons, Says Traveler.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 14.—"Ninety days in Europe will turn any self-respecting American against the league of nations," is the assertion of Fred F. Davis of Denver, a business man of that place, who has just returned from a trip abroad with his brother, W. J. Davis, of Hartley, Iowa.

Before his departure Fred F. Davis was a strong advocate of the Wilson league of nations. But his visit to Europe has changed his mind. He is now opposed to the league and describes European advocates of it as a "power-loving, territory-grabbing body of hypocrites."

He visited with his brother the leading centers of western Europe, was in Italy and in Berlin.

"The best thing for the United States to do is to get out of Europe and stay out," said Mr. Davis.

He said he found the Unted States detested in France and Italy and that in England and Belgium the part the United States took in the conflict was belittled.

"America is not wanted in the league for anything that will benefit it," Mr. Davis added. "The whole affair seems to me a plain case of inveigling the United States into the alliance for the purpose of allowing other nations to further their own ends, using this country for their own gain and support.

"Until I saw with my own eyes the true condition overseas, I was a strong advocate of the league."

FRENCH CRUISERS FOR ODESSA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Aug. 14.—Three French cruisers were today ordered to Odessa from the Levant by the French minister of marine. This was generally regarded as the first step by France toward according active military aid to General Wrangel's defacto government in southern Russia.

The keynote of most of the French press comment upon the Russian situation was that "France and the United States are now pursuing a common policy against the Russian Bolsheviki."

The Echo de Paris pointed out that "the world's first military power and the world's richest people have affirmed identical views."

"Premier Lloyd-George's pitiful excuse," was the headline used by the Matin over London dispatches.

The Journal refers to the American note to Italy as "a decisive factor."

Anatol Franz, writing in the Socialist newspaper Humanite, does not share the opinion held in some quarters that the United States will assist France in giving military aid to General Wrangel's anti-Bolshevist army.

"France stands alone in a terrible situation," said M. Franz. "With a feeble voice I cry to the French masses: 'save the peace of the world'."

James M. Beck, a former official of the United States government was quoted by the Matin as saying:

"The United States hates Bolshevism. We maintain the right to crush by force of arms all sedition and stifle contempt for law when it is for the good of a Republican people."

Bishops Say Courtship Is Taken Too Lightly.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 14.—Courtship is held too lightly—at least in England—and the clergy wants to do something about it. Thirty-six bishops in conference at Lambeth declared courtship shoult be lifted to a higher level.

Betrothal should be presented to the young as a serious matter," the bishops said. "It is incumbent upon the clergy to visit the betrothed and impress upon them the responsibilities of marriage and the sacredness of the union.

"We therefore urge upon the clergymen a systematic study of moral theology."

Says an Essex county farmer: "It's reached a point where it requires less effort to buy a registered calf and sow alfalfa than to explain why I don't—so I've done both!

The extensive use of automobiles, gasoline engines, tractors, trucks, ulate you on the improvement in resulting in an increasing number of fires on farms. There are many good and simple fire extinguishers on the market. Every farm needs them.

Henry Clay was a sheepman as well as a statesman. In 1831 he wrote to Adam Beatty: "I congrat- the piece of work and the consequent encouragement to the cultivation of sheep. I received for my common wool, unwashed, 33 cents, and was offered 62 for my Merino washed on the back of the sheep."

SAWKILL.

Sawkill, Aug. 13.—The entertainment which was to have been given by the Kingston Club at St. Ann's Hall Sunday has been postponed to September.

An ice cream social and dance will be held in St. Ann's Hall Wednesday, August 18, at 8:30 o'clock, new time. An auto stage will leave Rose-Gorman-Rose store, Kingston at 8:30 o'clock. The many friends of Father Vaeth will assist him in making the evening a success.

Lawrence Ginnell, member of the Irish National Assembly and noted Sinn Fein leader, whose unannounced arrival in New York recently created quite a stir in Irish circles here. It is said that Mr. Ginnell is in this country to aid Eamon De Valera, President of the "Irish Republic." Mr. Ginnell was formerly a member of the British House of Commons and served from 1906 to 1917.

Says British Ravage Ireland.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 14.—The charge that the British army of occupation in Ireland is devastating the country was made today by Sir Henry Grattan-Bellew who has just resigned his Irish post as magistrate and lieutenant.

"British soldiers are wrecking Irish towns and ruining Irish industry and they are proceeding without camouflage," declared Sir Henry.

You Demand
Adequate Telephone Service

You expect us to give you good service in any reasonable quantity, day or night, and you expect us to give you such service at the present time regardless of the increasing difficulty of obtaining necessary materials and supplies.

You look to us to enable you to talk to anyone served by our system in this State, or in the nation-wide Bell System at your convenience.

You require us to maintain a comprehensive system that meets your increasing business and social needs for voice communication over long or short distance.

To meet your demands we must employ an adequate force of well-trained workers, provide equipment of the highest grade and maintain reserves to cope with emergencies.

Your telephone service must not stop. If a storm destroys the wires, we must repair the damage promptly, and often at abnormal cost. If disaster occurs from fire or flood, we must rush reserves to fill the breach, so that your telephone service shall carry on."

It is our obligation to give you adequate telephone service and we recognize and seek to fulfil this obligation. But good service depends upon you quite as much as it does upon us. We can do only what you enable us to do through the rates you pay for the service we render.

It costs millions of dollars to give you service—more millions now than ever before. Our costs have risen tremendously in the past few years. The increase has been extraordinary in the past 12 months. Our annual payroll obligations have risen nearly $16,000,000 during that period. Prices of materials have climbed even higher than last year and we need materials in greater quantities than ever before.

Our expenses have advanced as fast or faster than yours have in your business and in your home. Our revenues have not advanced correspondingly. They are no longer adequate to meet the requirements of the business. They must be made adequate if we are to give you the adequate telephone service you demand.

COX RESUMES LEAGUE DEFENSE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Columbus, O., Aug. 14.—Governor James M. Cox, Democratic presidential nominee, was up at 5 o'clock this morning, and left by automobile at 7 for Wheeling, W. Va., where in a speech this afternoon and another this evening, he is expected to deal sundry verbal uppercuts to Republican enemies of the league of nations.

With "Black John" his negro chauffeur at the wheel the governor expected to cover the distance of 135 miles in less than six hours including stops. Among the governor's friends, John has earned the nickname of the "The Black Cyclone."

"My speeches today will be somewhat different in character from that at Camp Perry on Thursday," the governor stated today.

"The peculiar circumstances surrounding that address made it necessary to lay less emphasis than I should have liked on certain questions. Today, however, I shall discuss the issues."

The governor will make stops today at Zanesville, Cambridge and St. Clairsville and probably will make short talks at each. At St. Clairsville he will be met by a delegation from Wheeling, which will escort him to that city. About noon the governor will stop at a farm house for a chicken dinner.

The afternoon speech will be delivered before the Democratic state convention while the evening address will be in the open air on the river front.

HUGO NOT TO GO INTO PRIMARIES

Inactivity of His Workers on Eve of Date for Filing Petitions Make it Seem Sure That Miller Will Head United Party—Rumored Pressure From National Leaders.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo of Watertown will offer no primary contention to Nathan L. Miller of Syracuse, ex-judge of the court of appeals, and Republican organization candidate for the nomination of governor.

With the date for filing petitions to enter the primaries only three days away, this becomes more and more apparent in the face of these three outstanding facts.

1. Workers for Mr. Hugo in obtaining signatures to the Hugo petitions have been called in, according to authentic information.

2. Hugo's friends claim he will not make the fight and Hugo himself is declining information one way or the other.

3. Fresh from defeat at the Saratoga convention, Mr. Hugo announced he would immediately open headquarters in Albany for the conduct of his primary contest. He has failed to do this.

While the secretary of state is not talking publicly of his intentions since his statement immediately following the adjournment of the unofficial convention that he would enter the primaries, it is rumored in channels at the capital that should know, that the Watertown man has been in conference with Will H. Hays, chairman of the national Republican committee and that is one of the reasons why when the time for filing primary petitions expires at midnight, Tuesday night Hugo petitions will be lacking. There is further talk that the so-called "federal" crowd of Republicans anxious that New York state Republicanism be held intact for the drive it will make on dislodging the Democratic governor has offered to assuage Mr. Hugo's displeasure at not being nominated by proffering him a federal post.

FUNDS LOW SO SLEPT IN PARK

Friday night Officers Simpson and Entrott picked up three Italians, Michael DeCosco, James Jamiseo and Fred Morrello, whom they found sleeping in Academy Park, and they spent the remainder of the night in berths in the county jail. This morning in police court they told a tale of having reached Kingston late Friday afternoon and sought a boarding place to spend the night. Unfortunately they did not have enough change with them, and decided to spend the night asleep on the park benches. They were discharged.

Dominick Manfro of Glasco was arrested by Officer Reardon this morning for driving his car on the wrong side of an iron cop. He paid $3 for his neglect.

Richard K. Stowe of Yonkers was arrested Friday afternoon by Officer Martin for parking his car on John street, near the Stuyvesant Hotel. He gave cash bail for his appearance later.

Russel Trowbridge, another tourist, was arrested for the same offense by Officer Martin and also gave bail for his appearance later.

Harry Styles of this city, arrested by Officer Martin for the same offense, was discharged when arraigned before Judge Schirick this morning, because the street sign read "Parking Here One Hour Only" which the court holds is misleading.

WARSAW HEARS DECISIVE BATTLE

Bridgeheads On Vistula Must Hold Or City is Helpless—Armistice Delegation of 18 Members on Way To Minsk.

By Telegraph to The Freeman:

Warsaw, Aug. 13.—(via London, Aug. 14.)—Russian cavalry is only 15 miles from Warsaw, according to news from the front tonight. All day long the rumble of battle sounded in the ears of the inhabitants of this city.

There was a heavy artillery duel between the fringe of the outer forts defending Warsaw on the northwest and north and the Russians.

Headed by a strong cavalry detachment, great masses of reinforced Russian infantry are driving against the Polish defenses in the direction of Plock on the Vistula river.

The fate of Warsaw depends upon the Vistula bridgeheads west of this city. If they are lost there will be no further obstacle in the way of a Russian advance into the capital.

The government tonight announced a change in the plans for sending an armistice delegation to Minsk. The delegation, consisting of 18 members, will leave at 4 o'clock Sunday morning instead of Saturday night as originally announced.

Indiana Grows 8.5 Per Cent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Notaries Appointed.

Governor Smith has appointed Harry Alvin Tremper of 95 Orchard street and George D. Munson of 55 Green street, notaries public in and for Ulster county.

FULLER FACTORY ECONOMY DIVIDEND

The management of the Fuller shirt factory has made a change in the time and conditions regarding the distribution of the economy dividend earned by the employes of the company. Hereafter a dividend of ten per cent on the wages earned will be paid quarterly for every week that the quota of the production schedule is completed. Savings in excess of the ten per cent will be distributed monthly in accordance with the former policy.

This dividend is not a bonus but a "fifty-fifty" sharing between the management and the employes on the economies effected through the lowering of the unit cost of production.

During the week just past every department exceeded its quota and made a substantial addition to the dividend to be distributed at the end of the quarter.

Milk—The nominal wholesale price is $3.35 100 lbs. delivered in New York.

The wholesale markets were liberally supplied this week with green vegetables from all nearby producing points.

Owing to the extreme unfavorable weather conditions during the latter part of the week, trading became very limited with an extremely slow movement. Practically every commodity showed a slight or a sharp decline in prices at the end of the week. Prices at the wholesale markets are now lower than at any time during the past year.

A comparison of Friday's wholesale prices with prices on the corresponding date of last year shows that the majority of prices are a good deal lower than last year.

The wholesale potato market was very erratic this week. At the end of the week the market closed weak and unsettled due to heavier arrivals.

The fresh receipts of apples in both barrels and hampers are steadily increasing and are advance agents of the expected bumper crop. However, the fancy, large sized, handpicked apples are as yet only a small proportion of the supply. The best New York apples brought from $1.50 to $2.25 per bushel. The California fancy offerings in bushel boxes, all stock wrapped, brought from $3.75 to $4.25 per box.

HOUSTON OPPOSES CREDIT TO POLES

In Sale of Army Supplies—Already Hold Huge Sum In Paper—"Available Means" Not Yet Defined By Colby.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Despite continued pressure the United States will not be hurried into a decision as to the "available means" it will employ in aiding Poland, it was indicated at the state department today.

This nation is still awaiting further action on the formulation of a policy by the allies and expressions upon the note stating the views of this government.

The note from France indorsing the stand taken by the United States was expected to be received by the State department today.

Secretary of the Treasury Houston has informed Secretary of State Colby and Secretary of War Baker of his opposition to any plan to sell Poland more army supplies on credit. The treasury already holds the Polish government's "paper" merely as security for $71,000,000 worth of army goods sold to Poland prior to the outbreak of the present conflict with soviet Russia.

POLES NOT SUPPLIANT.

Will Now Demand Better Peace Terms at Minsk.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 14.—The Poles have reconsidered their peace terms and there were indications this afternoon that a deadlock may develop when the Poles and Russian envoys meet at Minsk.

Information that the Poles will demand "stiffer" peace terms from soviet Russia came from an official source.

There is apparently ground for belief that the reported attitude of the Poles toward peace is due to some extent to the action of France in recognizing the anti-bolshevik de facto government of General Wrangel in southern Russia.

M'GRAW CHANGES MIND, WILL TALK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 14.—Dr. William Bender, physician for John J. McGraw, who had refused to allow members of District Attorney Swann's staff to interrogate McGraw regarding injuries received by John J. Slavin, in front of McGraw's home, today telephoned the district attorney that McGraw had recoverd sufficiently to answer questions. McGraw was badly beaten in a fight at the Lambs Club with William H. Boyd.

Assistant District Attorney Unger, together with a deputy medical examiner, at once went to the McGraw home. A stenographer accompanied them to take a statement from the baseball club manager.

McGraw's change of front probably will make unnecessary an investigation by the grand jury and probably will clear up the otherwise mysterious injuries Slavin received. He has been unable to talk.

CAR SKIDS, DRIVER HURT

Sixteen Stitches Necessary To Close Cuts In Weehawken Man's Head Following Accident At Hurley.

A big National automobile driven by F. G. Hoffman of Weehawken, N. J., skidded on the sharp turn in the village of Hurley, south of the railroad crossing, Friday, and crashed into the maple tree alongside the roas. The car was basly wrecked by the collision and Mr. Hoffman was cut about the head so severely that it required 16 stitches to close the wounds.

Although the driver stated that he was going about 15 miles an hour, a portion of the front of the car was driven at least five inches into the maple tree and was so firmly fastened that it remained in the tree when the wrecking crew removed the car. The machine was badly wrecked and was taken to the Broadway Garage for repairs.

KINGSTON TO PLAY NEWBURGH COPS

Big Championship Game at Athletic Field Next Wednesday Afternoon for Pension Fund.

A baseball game of unusual interest will be the championship game to be played at the Athletic Field next Wednesday afternoon, August 18, at 3 o'clock, between the Kingston and Newburgh policemen, for the benefit of the Kingston police pension fund.

Kingston policemen have been in training for some time, and whenever policemen are seen running as though pursuing desperate criminals, it is because they are practicing the runs they expect to make to the home plate, because desperate criminals have decided long ago there is no use in attempting to run away from the Kingston cops. the Kingston cops.

Newburgh policemen always have an advantage in a side-hill game, but they labor at a disadvanatge in playing on a level field because in Newburgh there are no level places larger than the Newburgh armory floor. Reports brought to Kingston from Newburgh indicate that the members of the Newburgh force have taken their vacations earlier than usual this year and spent them in the country in order to accustom themselves to running on level stretches, in anticipation of Wednesday's championship game.

The police surgeons of both cities have been going over the members of the respective forces carefully and thoroughly and their confidential reports have been submitted to the police departments of the two places with results that are claimed by each department to be entirely satisfactory.

The outcome of Wednesday's game is being debated with scientific skill by local fans who agree that they are not willing to stake any money on the game until they see both teams on the field and compare them man for man. The fans generally are willing to forego wagers and use the money instead toward the purchase of admissions for their friends in order to increase the receipts of the game because of the worthy cause to which it is to be devoted. Tickets will be twenty-five cents.

U. & D. DEFEAT TIGERS, 2-0

And Tighten Hold on First Place in Twilight League—Largest Crowd of Season Saw Game Friday at Hasbrouck Park.

The Ulster & Delaware ball tossers tightened their grip on first place in the Twilight League by applying the whitewash brush to the Tigers, who were tied with them for first honors, at Hasbrouck Park Friday evening before the largest crowd of the season. The final score was 2 to 0. It is estimated the attendance at the game was around the 3,000 mark, and would have been larger if weather conditions had been more ideal.

Stoudt pitched for the railroaders while Swint served the slants for the Tigers and both pitched excellent ball. The railroad men scored their first tally in the first frame when Leo Fitzgerald the center fielder of the U. & D., and the first man up, hit for three bases, and scored on McLean's single. On account of darkness the game was called after six innings had been played.

No game tonight, but Monday evening the Tigers are scheduled to play Company M at Hasbrouck Park.

U. S. ATHLETES JEER COMMITTEE

Weeks And Kirby Unable To Patch Up Differences That Have Grown Steadily Since Team Left Hoboken—Champion Ahern Off Team.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Antwerp, Aug. 14.—The present American Olympic committee in charge of athletes who will compete here for Uncle Sam, is as good as through so far as any future control of athletic events is concerned. This is the general opinion here today as the result of troubles which have been continually developing since the men sailed from Hoboken. The latest row has been precipitated by action of the committee in dismissing Dan Ahern, hop, step and jump champion, from the team.

Early today members of the team were to meet with the athletes who declared they would force a show down on all their troubles. It is believed this show down will result in the immediate reinstatement of Ahern.

Last night the committee undertook to rebuke the athletes for their stands on several questions. Justice Bartow S. Weeks and Gustavus Kirby, prominent members, addressed the men.

"What would you do if the committee were to quit?" Justice Weeks inquired. Cheers intermingled with jeers in the answer.

Kirby took up the dismissal of Ahern, over which there has been ill feeling, but he failed to rouse any enthusiasm. The athletes remained silent to appeals to "their better nature."

The stadium will remain open today. There will be no games and no parade.

The American athletes are generally in good condition and ready for competition at once.

ALSATIAN DIALECTS

To Be Kept Alive By French—Their Character.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Aug 14.—France has no intention of trying to abolish the Alsatian dialect, or even of attempting to replace the dialect and the German tongue by French. While the provinces, Alsace and Lorraine, were in the hands of the Germans the use of French was barred. It was forbidden to teach French in the primary schools, and that language was known only to the wealthy who had private teachers for their children. But everybody in Alsace, rich and poor, bourgeois and peasant, speaks the native patois. It is the plan of the French government to keep this dialect alive.

In the long winter evenings in the Alsatian valleys before the war which redeemed the provinces from Prussian sway, children would ask their grandfathers or grandmothers to tell them about France, for which the elder generation had maintained a profound attachment. And the stories the children listened to were always told in patois. For twenty years after the disaster of 1871 it seemed as if the Prussians would be able to kill the French tongue in the "lost provinces." But they counted without their hosts. In 1908 the cult of the French language became a veritable religion. Societies sprang up in every town and village. Concerts and theatrical representations were given in French. The number of French-speaking Asatians grew every year. In 1895 only 159,732 Alsatians spoke French. By 1910 this number had increased to more than 200,000.

The Alsatian dialect has a harsh sound in comparison to French, but, it is said, it translates exactly the Alsatian mentality. It cannot be used for a psychological treatise or a scientific discourse, but it is admirably adapted to songs, folk lore, proverbs and old sayings, so popular in the district. It has been used with great success by a young dramatist, Eugene Gerber, of Dambach, who is director of a theatre in that town, where he has produced several short plays in dialect. His talent has been officially recognized by the Societe des Gens de Lettres. M. Charlety, Director of Public Instruction of Alsace, has announced his programme regarding the use of the language of the province as follows:

1. German must not be forbidden.
2. We must assure the predominance of French as an essential instrument of intellectual and moral culture.
3. Children who have received primary instruction in German will continue to study in that tongue, with French instruction on the side. Children who entered primary school after the signing of the armistice will be taught French by the so-called "natural method," that is, by the use of images showing the meaning of the French words.

When some of Napoleon's entourage made fun of the patois of Kellermann, Rapp and Lefevre, his famous generals, the Emperor retorted, "Let them babble in their dialect all they like. They always fight in French." Fifty years from now, when the little children of Alsace ask their grandparents to tell them about the war and the liberation of their country they will listen to the story in Alsatian dialect.
